

UTCA Construction Safety Seminar

OSHA 10-Hour Training For The Roadway Construction Industry

February 16 & 17, 2017

8:00am Registration & Continental Breakfast

8:30am - 3:00 pm - Seminar Program

UTCA will be offering the OSHA 10-Hour Training For The Roadway Construction Industry over two days. The program will cover a wide range of construction safety and health topics including fall protection, personal protective equipment, excavations and OSHA record keeping, as well as numerous other related topics.

This class is appropriate for entry level and experienced employees. The OSHA 10-Hour Class is commonly required for employees working on private projects, many public funded projects, and is now mandatory for all who work on private utility construction projects under New Jersey P.L. 2008 Chapter 343, as well as being an important credential to indicate your firm's commitment to work safety. This is an important part of every company safety program. For those who may have completed this seminar, it is recommended that the seminar be repeated every four years.

The program cost is $50.00 per person which includes two days of quality classroom instruction, student materials and OSHA 10-Hour Cards. Continental breakfast and lunch will also be included each day.

The program will be held at the UTCA Conference Center in Farmingdale, New Jersey which is located just off the NJ Parkway and Interstate 195. Training will be held from 8:30am - 3:00pm both days. Registrants must complete both days to qualify for the 10-Hour Card.

Please contact Dan Neville at the UTCA office should you have any questions relative to this safety training program. Directions to the class location are available at: www.utcanj.org
